

Pendle Constituency Labour Party Privacy Statement

IP addresses and log file data

The Pendle Labour Party web site and blog do not automatically capture or store personal information, other than our web site hosting service logging the user's IP Address or the location of your computer or network on the Internet, for systems administration and troubleshooting purposes. (If you are connected to the Internet you have an IP address, for example an IP address might read "154.198.99.9"). We also use IP addresses in the aggregate to track which pages people visit in order to improve the quality of the site.

Data collection and use

You may be asked for personal information if you complete one of the forms on this site. The Pendle Labour Party may store this information; however we do not sell or disclose this information to outside organisations or individuals, nor transfer it outside the United Kingdom. You may remove or change your details at any time. You have right of access to your personal information held on our files by written request to the data protection officer (address below) and on payment of an administration fee. If there is any variation to the above, this will be clearly stated on the form; for example in the case of a petition for which your details will be passed to an outside organisation.

E-Newsletters

When you subscribe to an e-newsletter we may ask you for contact information (such as your name and e-mail address), geographic information (such as your address), and other details about you and your interests. This is used to help us provide you with information to match your interests. We may also use it to alert you of campaigns you may be interested in and events happening in your area.

You can remove your name at any time from our e-mail subscription list by unsubscribing, information on how to do this is included with each E-Newsletter that we produce and it is also displayed on the "Welcome Page" of this web site.

Information on children

We do not knowingly collect personally identifiable information from children under the age of 16.
